

MAGS Fall 2021 Signature Event

Tuesday, September 21, 2021, 2.00 – 3.30 PM (Central)

Click here to register and to receive the Zoom link

EFFECTIVE GRADUATE MENTORING: EVIDENCE BASED PRACTICES FROM IUPUI

Randall J. Roper, Director of the IUPUI Graduate Mentoring Center & Janice Blum, IUPUI Vice Chancellor for Research and Graduate Education, and Associate Dean of the University Graduate School

The recently established IUPUI Graduate Mentoring Center (GMC) serves over 500 faculty and graduate/professional students each year. In collaboration with the IUPUI Graduate Office, the GMC provides resources and opportunities for faculty and staff to strengthen their skills in mentoring graduate and professional students. This event will address successful mentoring practices and training used to disseminate these practices, and provide discussions about inclusive mentoring, mentoring students online, similarities and differences in mentoring graduate and undergraduate students, and addressing gaps in mentoring.

Breakout session topics:

1. Approaches to inclusive mentoring
2. Mentoring online for grad students
3. Mentoring grad and undergrads
4. Addressing gaps in mentoring

MAGS/PROQUEST DISTINGUISHED THESIS AWARD RECEPTION

Social and Behavioral Sciences Category

The Local Periphery: Small Cities and The Politics of Exclusion
Benny Witkovsky, Sociology, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Mathematics, Physical Sciences, and Engineering Category

Algorithm for Geodetic Positioning Based on Angle-Of-Arrival of Automatic Dependent Surveillance-Broadcasts
Richard Gross, Software Engineering
Grand Valley State University

